PREFACE.

This little, unpretending volume is the genealogical record of upwards of twelve hundred persons, the descendants of John Guild, of Dedham, who died more than two hundred years ago. As a family they have been prudent, industrious and useful, living not wholly unto themselves, and fulfilling well the Divine command. Be fruitful and multiply, and replenish the earth. Few among them have been blessed with riches, in the modern sense of the term, although many have had a handsome competency. It may not be ascribed to vanity to add, that they have been distinguished for integrity and uprightness of character:—upon no one has the process of criminal law ever been served, and no one, it is believed, has been imprisoned for debt.

The labor and difficulty of collecting and arranging the genealogical statistics of a family of two hundred years growth, can be estimated only by those who have had experience in undertakings of this kind. Few people care for their ancestors, many keep no records, and others keep them very imperfectly. In the present work there are undoubtedly many mistakes, and yet the author is gratified that he has succeeded in collecting so much that is reliable. The descendants of the male branches of the family are given, it will be observed, with greater care and fulness than the descendants of the female branches. Perhaps a future edition of the work may in time be published, which shall incorporate all omissions, together with corrections and additions.

The work is properly divided into two parts, the first part including the descendants of JOHN GUILD who settled in Dedham, and the second those who settled in Wrentham. The plan of giving the names of the family in the order of their respective generations, and according to priority of birth, is simple, and can, it is believed, be readily comprehended, without the aid of tedious explanations, which oftentimes are more unintelligible than the work itself. It may be well perhaps to add, for the benefit of such as are specially interested in chronology, that previous to 1752, the year was, by the legal method of computation, held to begin on the 25th of March, instead of the 1st of January, as at present. March, therefore, was called the first month, and February, the twelfth: while September, October, November, and December, in accordance with their Latin etymology or derivation, were called the seventh, eighth, ninth, and tenth months. March 10, 1669, would be, therefore, according to our present reckoning, March 10, 1670. The dates in this Genealogy are made to correspond with the "New Style," so called.

To all who have rendered him assistance the author hereby tenders his sincere and most grateful acknowledgments, especially to REUBEN A. GUILD, Esq., Librarian of Brown University, who has kindly revised the manuscript, and corrected the proof-sheets as they came from the press. With all its imperfections the book is now submitted to the GUILD FAMILY, in the hope and belief that it may promote harmony and acquaintance among the various branches thereof, and prove useful to all who may have occasion to consult its pages.

PART I.

The Dedham Branch

OF THE

Guild Family.

Dedham Branch.

THE name of GUILD in America is first recorded in Dedham, Massachusetts, where two brothers (as is supposed) and a sister,—John, Samuel and Ann,—arrived from Scotland about the year 1636. The marriage of James Allen and Ann Guild is recorded in 1638, this being the only mention of them on record. Samuel was admitted a freeman in 1642, but did not long remain in Dedham. No further mention of him is found upon the records of the town. He is traced to Newbury, thence to Haverhill, and thence to Watertown, Massachusetts. As the first considerable emigration to Weathersfield and Milford, Connecticut, was from Watertown, it is probable that he removed to one of these towns, where he has left numerous descendants.

JOHN GUILD was admitted to the church in Dedham, July 17, 1640, and made a freeman in 1643. He was one of the original grantees of the town. The first grant was made in 1643, when he had "assigned to him and his heirs forever, three roods and twenty rods, more or less, as it lyeth on the great Playne abutting upon Nathaniel Whiting on the east, and George Barber toward the west, and the highway toward the north, and the water toward the south." The second grant was made in 1644, "one acre as it lyeth abutting upon the line of the middle division east; the waste land west, John Bullard north, Edward Richards south." To this property he added by grants and purchases considerable other real estate in Dedham, Wrentham, Medfield and Natick.

In 1640, he bought twelve acres of upland of John Roper, "abutting on Richard Evered toward the north, east and south, and on the highway toward the west." This highway is now known as East street, and the grant, originally made to John Roper, is described on a plan of the original grants and highways, recently prepared by William Bullard, 2d, Esq., for the Dedham Historical Society. On this land he built a house, which was occupied by himself and his descendants for more than two centuries. It is only within a few years that it was taken down. In 1637, he subscribed, with others, the following covenant, adopted by them for their better protection and guidance; which covenant gives us a satisfactory insight to the characters of these our staunch Puritan ancestors:—

1st. We, whose names are hereunto subscribed, doe in the feare and reverence of our Almighty God, mutually and severally promise amongst ourselves and to each other, to p'ssesse and practice one trueth according to that most perfect rule, the foundation whereof is everlasting love.

2d. That we shall by all meanes laboure to keepe of from us all such as are contrarye minded, and receive only such unto us as may be p'ably of one harte with us, as shal we either know or may well and truly be informed to walk in peacable conversation with all meekness of spirit for the edification of each other in the knowledg and truth of the Lord Jesus, and the mutuall encouragment unto al temporall comforts; in all things seeking the good of each other out of all which may be derived from power.

3d. That if at any time difference shall arise betweene p'ties of our said towne, that then such p'tie or p'ties shall p'sntly refer all such difference unto som one, two or three others of our said societie, to be fully accorded and determined without any further delaye, if it possibly may bee.

4th. That every man that may now or hereafter have lotts in our said towne shall paye his share in all such rates of money and charges as shall be imposed upon him rateably in p'portion with other men; as also become freely subject unto all such orders and constitutions as shall be necessarily had or made, now or at any time hereafter from this day forward, as m'tt for loving and comfortable societie in our said towne, as allso be for the p'sperous and thriving condition of our fellowshipe, especially respecting the feare of God, in which we desire to begin and continue whatsover we shall by his loving favoure take in hand. And for the better manifestation of our true resolution herein, every man so received to subscribe hereunto his name, thereby obliging both himself and his successors after him forever as we have done.

Mr. Guild was thoroughly honest in all his dealings, industrious and frugal, modest in his deportment, and retiring in his habits. He never held any office, and seldom attended the town meetings,—the records of the town, which give the names of all those who were thus present, recording his name but once in several years, and then on an occasion of considerable excitement in relation to making alterations and additions to the meeting-house. He died October 4, 1682, leaving the following will:—

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, That I, John Guild, of Dedham, in the County of Norfolk, in the Massachusetts Colony, in New England, being at present weake in bodye, and in expectation of my departure out of this world, do make this my last will and testament, in manner and form as followeth, viz.:—

First. I give unto my three children, Samuel, John and Elizabeth, all my wearing apparel, to be equally divided among them, as well linen as woolen. I give and bequeath unto my daughter Elizabeth, two cows, one of w'ch is at present in her hands, and my bed and all belonging thereunto, as also all that is in my chest that is suitable for her use: Further, I give unto my s'd daughter all my land lying near the Falls, in the dividend called Natick Dividend, to her and her use forever, and one booke of Mr. Burroughs, called Gospel Conversation. I give and bequeath unto my son John Guild, all my land lying in Wrentham, as well upland as meadow, as also my lott near Meadfield, in the dividend called the Meadfield Dividend, to him and his heirs forever: Also, I give unto my s'd John, my looms and four sleays, which are suitable for present use, as also one wheel w'th ye blades, and a booke called the Sound Believer. I give and bequeath unto my son Samuel Guild, all my house lott with my dwelling house and barne, with my land upon Wigwam Plaine; as also my meadows at Fowle Meadows, and eight acres of land, more or less, at Ragged Plaine, and also all common rights in lands to me in any belonging which are not already mentioned in this my will. And for a more full manifestation that this above written is my reall will, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my seale this third day of October, in the yeare of our Lord one thousand six hundred eighty-two. JOHN GUILD.

In presence of Nathaniel Stearns, Thomas Metcalf.

It was certified in court, 3d November, 1682, "that he was, to the understanding of the witnesses, of disposing mind."

The following inventory of his estate was made November 4th, 1682:—

His wearing apparrell, hats, shoes and stockings, - -	£3 19

4. JOHN,[3] m. Abigail Robinson, of Rehoboth, who died Jan. 31, 1793. Resided in Walpole. The following is his last will and testament: —

In the name of God, amen. The twenty-second day of May, Anno Domini seventeen hundred sixty seven, in the seventh year of the reign of our Sovereign Lord, King George the Third, over Great Britain, I, John Guild, of Walpole, in the County of Suffolk, and province of Massachusetts Bay, in New England, husbandman, being of infirm body but of sound mind and memory, (praised be Almighty God for the same,) knowing the uncertainty of this present life, and being desirous to settle the outward estate the Lord hath lent me, do therefore make and ordain this my last will and testament in manner and form following, that is to say: —

First, and principally, I recommend my soul unto the hands of Almighty God, my creator, hoping and receiving full pardon and remission of all my sins, and salvation through the alone merits of Jesus Christ my redeemer, and my body to the earth to be decently interred according to the directions of my executor, hereafter named.

And as touching such worldly estate the Lord hath lent me, my will and meaning is that the same shall be employed and disposed of as hereafter in and by this my last will is expressed, hereby revoking, renouncing and declaring null and void all wills and testaments by me formerly made, declaring and appointing this to be my last will and testament, wherein is contained the same. Imprimis. I will that all my just debts and funeral expenses be well and truly paid, or ordered to be paid, in convenient time next after my decease by my three sons, viz.: John Guild, Samuel Guild and Joseph Guild, share and share alike.

Item. I do hereby give and bequeath unto my beloved wife Abigail, for her comfortable subsistence during her continuing my widow, the sole use, benefit, income and improvement of the west end of my house, and my orchard on the north side of my house and on the south side of the road leading to Day's, and two acres of land on the north side of my house on the south side of said road leading to said Day's; and also three acres of land down in the swamp, so called, butting on Bullard's land; more, also one-third of my barn, with three acres of my field southeast of my house and barn to the cross fence by the pound; and also I give my beloved wife two cows and a horse; also, I will that my three sons should keep them, summer and winter, and also all my indoor movables to be at her disposal forever.

Item. I give to my beloved son Joseph Guild, and to his heirs forever, the west end of my house and barn, etc., and all my land, except my land at the swamp that I disposed of, with all my outdoor movables, with his paying out what shall be hereafter expressed.

Item. I give unto my beloved son John, the sum of five shillings, which is his full portion with what he has already had, with his paying out what is hereafter expressed.

I give to my beloved son Samuel, and his heirs forever, all my land at the swamp, so called, with his paying what shall be hereafter expressed, it being his full portion with what he hath already had.

Item. I give to my beloved daughter Abigail Gregory, thirteen pounds six shillings eight pence, within three years after my decease, which is her full portion out of my estate with what she hath already had; that is to say, my said son John Guild paying out to my daughter Abigail Gregory, the sum of four pounds eight shillings ten pence, within three years after my decease; and my son Samuel to pay to my daughter Abigail Gregory, the sum of four pounds eight shillings eleven pence, within three years after my decease; also my son Joseph Guild to pay to my daughter Abigail Gregory, the sum of four pounds eight shillings eleven pence, within three years after my decease.

Item. I do hereby constitute and appoint my beloved son Joseph to be my sole executor of this my last will and testament, whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal the day and year first above written.

JOHN GUILD.

6. Joseph,[3] married for his first wife, Oct. 31, 1723, Abigail Fisher, of Dedham. Was chosen precinct collector in 1737. His precinct tax for 1730 was 2*s* 2*d*, and his minister tax, £1 3 6. "Renewed his baptismal covenant Sept. 20, 1724, and was, with his wife, received into full communion" with the church Feb. 5, 1727. The following is a copy of his will:—

In the name of God, amen. The twenty-fifth day of September, Anno Domini seventeen hundred fifty-one, I, Joseph Guild, of Dedham, in the County of Suffolk and Province of Massachusetts Bay, in New England, yeoman, being sick and infirm in body but of a disposing mind and memory, (blessed be God,) knowing it is appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last will and testament, viz.:—

Principally I recommend my soul unto the hand of God who gave it, and my body to the earth to be buried in a decent manner, at the discretion of my executor afterwards, believing it shall be raised again at the general judgment. And as touching such worldly estate as God hath given me, I dispose of it in the following manner, my just debts and funeral charges to be paid out of my personal estate:—

Imprimis. I give and bequeath unto Bulah, my beloved wife, the improvement of one-third of all my real estate during her natural life, and all the indoor movables, and four pounds of the money I have at interest, being about forty pounds lawful money, and a cow to be at her dispose forever.

Item. I give and bequeath to my beloved son Joseph, my homestead, my buildings and all my land and all my rights in lands wheresoever they may be found within my possession and reversion, and my stock of cattle and all my husbandry tools. He to come into possession of two-thirds my real estate at my decease, and the other third at my wife's decease,—he to pay out the legacies and sums herein made.

Item. I give to my beloved son Samuel, eighty pounds lawful money, should he arrive at the age of twenty-one years. He to work with and for the benefit of my son Joseph during his minority to the time last named, to be paid by my son Joseph, partly of his portion and partly for labor. I appoint Dea. Joseph Wight guardian to my said sons Joseph and Samuel, to be instead of a father to them, to inspect, advise and direct their education, morals, and to manage the estate with and for them in every case and demand in as full manner as if they were each of them presently of age to act for themselves, and to be paid and to account with each of them at their arriving at the age of twenty-one years, and in case the said Dea. Wight should remove out of town or decease before the said minors arrive at the full age of twenty one, then I appoint Mr. David Fales in said Deacon Wight's stead to finish the guardianship of my said sons, etc.

Item. I give to my youngest son, Heman, twenty-six pounds thirteen shillings and four pence in lawful money, to be paid him when he arrives at the full age of twenty-one years, (to be paid then by my son Joseph,) and a cow.

Item. I give to my two daughters Abigail and Hannah, twenty-six pounds thirteen shillings and four pence lawful money, each, and each of them a cow,—the cow and half the legacies to be paid each them at their marriage, and the other half ten years after my decease, by my son Joseph; and I give my two daughters Hannah and Abigail, the indoor movables their mother brought with her to me that shall be found after my decease.

Item. I give to my youngest daughter, Desire, twenty-six pounds thirteen shillings and four pence in lawful money, and a cow, to be delivered her by my said son Joseph at her arriving at the age of twenty-one years.

Item. I give my wearing apparel to my two sons Joseph and Samuel to be equally divided between them.

Item. And after my just debts and funeral charges are paid, what remains of my money or bonds or indoor movables not disposed of, I give to my six children, to be equally divided among them. And I will and ordain that the above named Joseph Wight to be the executor of this my last will and testament; and in case the said Joseph Wight shall remove out of Dedham or decease before this will be fully executed, I appoint the above named David Fales executor, to finish what shall remain unexecuted of this my will. And I hereby revoke all other wills, testaments and bequests.

JOSEPH GUILD.

The appraised value of his property was four hundred fourteen pounds fourteen shillings.

It is stated in a diary kept by Whiting, that he and Desire were, with two other couples, enjoying themselves at a Thanksgiving party at the house of Capt. David Fales, when, in sport, it was insisted that these couples should be united in marriage,—they having been previously published,—and although other arrangements for the weddings had been made, they were all married by a justice of the peace, who happened to be present.

Fourth Generation.

7. NATHANIEL,[4] in a deed to his son, styles himself "Gentleman, of Dedham, Mass." He received a grant of land in Dedham, near the house of John,[1] and owned other land by purchase. He had deeded to him a certain mine, probably in Stoughton, "with all the hidden treasures except iron ore." It appears that he formed a company for the working of the mine. The following extracts are made from a written contract with the company: "Know all men by these presents, that I, Nathaniel Guild, of Walpole, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, in consideration of the sum of five dollars paid to me by each of the following persons, * * for every share, or tenth part of said mine, * * together with the further sum of fifty dollars for every share he shall possess, to be paid out of the first net profits of said mine, * * twenty ounces of silver." He was also engaged at his furnace in "Stoughtonham," where he possessed considerable property. He left the following will: —

In the name of God, amen. I, Nathaniel Guild, of Walpole, in the County of Norfolk, in Commonwealth of Massachusetts, yeoman, considering the uncertainty of human life, and being of sound and perfect mind and memory, (blessed be Almighty God for the same,) do make and publish this my last will and testament in manner following, that is to say: —

First. I give and bequeath unto my beloved daughter Mahitabel Guild, (in consideration of the many years' service she has done in my house since she became of age,) one-half of all my real estate and personal, during her natural life; and in case she should marry, she shall quit said half upon receiving one hundred silver dollars, well and truly paid by my executor, and an equal share of my estate with her brothers and sisters. Also, I give and bequeath unto my beloved wife, Anna Guild, to the heir of my son Nathaniel Guild, deceased, to my son Samuel Guild, Mary Plympton, Marcy Hewins, Susanna Morse, and Mahitabel Guild, one-half of my estate, both real and personal, during the natural life of my daughter Mahitabel Guild, and after the decease or marriage of the said Mahitabel, I give unto them the whole of my estate, to be equally divided among them, after one hundred dollars has been paid out of the same to the said Mahitabel, in case she marries. Also, I do appoint my son Dr. Samuel Guild, of Easton, my sole executor of this my last will and testament; hereby revoking all former wills by me made.

He married for his first wife, June 12, 1733, Mary Boyden, of Wrentham.

CHILDREN.

9. Aaron,[4] known as Aaron Guild, Esquire, and more commonly as Major Aaron. In 1758, he was commissioned by Gov. Pownall, as ensign in Capt. Eliphalet Fales's company, in a regiment of foot commanded by Col. Nichols; afterwards he was promoted to a captaincy in the same company. When a messenger from Lexington came galloping through the town announcing that war had begun, he was ploughing with his son Aaron in the field in front of his house. Leaving the plough in the furrow and the oxen standing, he hastened to the house, took down his favorite kings arm and departed immediately for the scene of action, arriving upon the ground in season to aid in firing upon the British troops who were hastily returning to Boston. During the war he held various offices. He was on a committee of safety in 1774, and in 1775 was a muster master. In 1779 he was on a committee to make provisions for the families of non commissioned officers and soldiers, and in 1780 and 1781 he was on a committee of correspondence and safety. He resided in South Dedham, having for a time six sons and three daughters by his two wives, and three daughters of the widow whom he married for a third wife, dwelling beneath his roof. He married, June 1, 1752, Sarah Coney, of Stoughton, who died Feb. 18, 1755.

16. JOSEPH[4] always lived in Dedham, his native town. The first years of his life were spent at the old ancestral home, whence he removed, about the time of his marriage, to a farm which he purchased on Dedham Island, so called, now the property of the heirs of Thomas Motley, Esq., and where he spent the remainder of his life. He was much esteemed as an honorable, upright and virtuous man, and an energetic, useful citizen. Was captain of a company of Minute Men at the breaking out of the Revolutionary war. "When the news of the battle of Lexington reached Dedham," says Samuel Haven, Esq., in his Centennial Discourse, "Capt. Joseph Guild led the Minute Men, and meeting with one on the road who declared the alarm to be false, he seized him with his own hand, gagged him, and left him under the charge of one of his men, lest the report should reach more willing ears, and gain a readier credence." He was afterward, with his command, at Ticonderoga, Montreal, and other places. A brief but interesting journal, kept by him during his campaign, is still preserved. He was one of a committee of safety, also a muster master in 1775, on a committee to make provision for families of non-commissioned officers and privates in 1777, and on a committee of correspondence, inspection and safety in 1780 and 1781. He was parish treasurer eight years, and filled also various other offices, such as justice of the peace, selectman, representative to the General Court, etc. He was admitted to full communion with the church May 20, 1764. Married, Jan. 25, 1859, Miriam Draper, of Dedham, who died Sept. 26, 1831, aged 93 years.

21. Moses[5] carried on the business of transporting merchandise between Boston and Providence, en route to New York, for more than thirty years, which business was continued by his sons until the opening of railroads. He commenced in partnership with his brother Abner, but dissolved the partnership after a year or two, and continued the business alone, in which he was very successful, running, at one time forty to fifty one-horse teams, and transporting silks, teas, dry goods, and even whole wagon loads of specie; which, such was the honesty of the people in earlier days, was without guard, and wholly unprotected, except by the driver. He was, from about 1822 till his death, quite a large, if not the largest, landholder in South Dedham. The mansion house built by him is still standing. He had a fine farm, which was always well stocked and kept in a good state of cultivation. It is related that the great gale of 1815 prostrated ninety fine bearing apple trees in his orchard, beside doing other damage. His sons Moses and Samuel succeeded to his business, and continued it, originating, it is said, the express system. He married, Aug. 11, 1787, Abigail Everett, of Dedham, who was born Aug. 8, 1760. She was cousin to the late Governor Edward Everett.

Abigail,[6] b. Sept. 23, 1790; d. June 12, 1850.

These sisters were never married, but, with Newell, remained on the place after their father's death, and carried on such portions as they became possessed of, which was quite a large estate. Lucy and Abigail managed their farm quite skillfully. They were very fond of young people, and the old homestead which they occupied was the resort of the children of their brothers and sisters during the summer season, and on Thanksgiving days, until within a few years previous to their death.

Martha May,[6] b. Sept. 10, 1803; m. Rev. Caleb Kimball. After passing through academical and collegiate studies he entered the Theological Seminary at Andover, but, by a too close application to his studies he injured his eyes and soon became totally blind. Notwithstanding this great affliction he has lived a useful life, with a cheerful submission to the will of his Lord. He has published several valuable religious books, and frequent'y supplied the pulpits of his brother clergymen. His method has been to write out his manuscript of book or sermon himself, then have it re-written and read to him by his wife, until he had committed to memory the sermon, or sufficiently revised the book; then, with sermon and hymns for the occasion committed to memory, he enters the pulpit, and, what is a remarkable fact, it is said that he has never been known to make a mistake in naming the chapter and verse of his text, or number of the hymns selected, or in repeating sermon or hymns. Resides in Medway.

54. SAMUEL[6] entered business in Roxbury in 1798. The block of stores and offices in Roxbury known as GUILD'S BLOCK was a part of his property and built by him. The following obituary, taken from the Norfolk County Journal, truthfully describes his character and success: —

HON. SAMUEL GUILD died in this city, on Sunday last, at the advanced age of eighty-five years. Mr. Guild had reached this stage of life with remarkable personal vigor. We spoke of him only a few months since, on an occasion when his friends met to do him honor, as one of whom there was reason to hope that he might yet enjoy several years of the green old age which he had honorably attained. But he fell a victim to a violent disease which attacked him some ten days before his death.

Mr. Guild was a man entirely without ostentation — plain and simple in his tastes, and unambitious in his desires. He never sought distinction of any kind — the desire of his heart seeming to be to fill each day with deeds of usefulness in the lot in which Providence had placed him. All the honors that were ever conferred on him by his friends came like the rain and the dew from God's bounty — unasked and unanticipated.

He was born in Walpole, Massachusetts, on the 18th of March, 1777, on the spot where two or three generations of his ancestors had lived and died. He left the paternal roof when about fifteen years of age, and, with all his worldly possessions tied up in a handkerchief, started on foot and alone, and walked to Roxbury, where he commenced work as an apprentice with Mr. Samuel Heath, — "Tanner Heath," as he was familiarly called. The day on which he commenced his journey was a warm one in April, and, with a heavy overcoat and his bundle, he became tired and footsore while on his route. He has since pointed out to his children a stone by the roadside in Dedham where he sat down and cried, being homesick and nearly discouraged at so hard a commencement in his journey of life.

The old tannery was at "Hogg's Bridge," where the Chemical Works now are. There he served faithfully,—and worked as men and boys were accustomed to work in those primitive days,—for a number of years after he was twenty-one years of age.

On leaving "Tanner Heath's," he hired the old tannery on his late homestead estate, belonging to Mr. James Mears, senior, his future wife's grandfather, boarding with Mr. Benjamin Seaver, father of the late mayor of Boston of that name, and working for him two days in each week in payment of his board.

Mr. Guild married, November 25, 1806, Sarah, the only daughter of James Mears, Jr., and, making some necessary additions to the house of his father-in-law, has continued to live with his consort, on the same premises, up to the time of his decease—fifty-five years.

James Mears, senior, lived in the old house, many now alive remember, on the corner of Guild Row and Dudley street, where "Guild Building" now stands. James Mears, Jr., Mr. Guild's father-in-law, lived in a house, a few years ago taken down, very near the corner of Washington and Eustis streets; and when he moved up to the new house where Mr. Guild lived so long and died, it is said their friends all thought them insane to think of going away into such an out-of-the-way lonely wilderness.

He filled many offices of responsibility in his adopted town and city, in an honest and conscientious manner. He was representative from Roxbury a number of times; served as senator from Norfolk County two terms; was President of the People's Bank twenty-five years, and of the Savings Institution for the past seven years.

He had had eleven children,—six sons and five daughters,—all but one of whom (a son who died in infancy) lived to man's and woman's estate.

He left at his decease, eight children and ten grandchildren, nearly all of whom live within sight of the old homestead. No one of his children ever settled down more than three miles from home, and then only for a short season. There always seemed to be a strong magnetic attraction in the old spot that has thus far kept them all together.

Mr. Guild accumulated a large share of this world's goods, which he leaves behind him. Whatever he gained in this way, however, came by a life of honest toil,—little by little,—without parsimony at his board or meanness in his charities. He had the satisfaction to feel that all he possessed was his own,—faithfully and honestly earned. Through his life he was respected as an upright, honest, straightforward member of society; and, dying, he leaves a reputation without spot or blemish.

He married, Nov. 23, 1806, Sarah, only daughter of James and Mary Mears, of Roxbury.

PART II.

The Wrentham Branch

OF THE

Guild Family.

Wrentham Branch.

OF the character and ability of JOHN[2], nothing is now known, except what can be inferred from the few record words, viz.: that "he united with the church and was elected a deacon." As the Puritan standard of fitness for church membership, and especially for the office of deacon, was very rigid, there can be no hesitation in ascribing to him all those qualities of mind and heart which constitute the trustworthy citizen and exemplary Christian; and, by the records of his descendants, such opinion of him is well confirmed. He did not remove from Dedham to Wrentham until 1681, after the birth of his second child, but before the land in Wrentham was willed to him by his father. The house which he built probably occupied the same spot of ground as the one now standing, which has been occupied by his descendants until recently, when it passed into the hands of Miss Abby Kollock. The house is still an object of veneration to his descendants, some of whom make to it their annual pilgrimage. He united with the church in Wrentham, April 13, 1692, and was elected deacon, December 7, 1707. Married, March 23, 1677, Sarah Fisher, of Dedham.

The following is Mrs. Phebe Guild's last will and testament: —

In the name of God, Amen. The twenty-first day of April, in the year of our Lord seventeen hundred eighty-five. I, Phebe Guild, of Wrentham, in the County of Suffolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being sick and weak of body, but of sound mind and memory, (thanks be to God for it.) calling to mind my own mortality, and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last will and testament, in manner and form following, viz. : —

Principally, and first of all, I give and recommend my soul to the sovereign and merciful God who gave it, hoping that, through the active and passive merits of Jesus Christ, to have the full pardon and forgiveness of all my sins, and to inherit eternal life. My body I commit to the earth, to be decently buried at the discretion of my executor, not doubting that at the general judgment I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God. And as touching such worldly estate wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me in this life, I give and dispose of the same in the following manner, viz :

Imprimis I will that all those debts and dues which I owe to any person or persons whatsoever shall be well and truly paid by my executor in convenient time after my decease.

Item. I give and bequeath unto the Rev. John Guild, in the State of New Jersey, Benjamin Guild, Esq., and Deacon Ebenezer Guild, of Franklin, sons of my late husband by his first wife, the sum of three pounds, to be paid by my executor in one year after my decease, to be equally divided between them.

Item. I give and bequeath unto Mrs. Esther Prince, of Boston, the sum of two pounds, to be paid by my executor, in one year after my decease.

Item. I give and bequeath unto my beloved son Samuel Guild, the sum of twelve pounds, to be paid by my executor, in one year after my decease ; my second best bed and bedding, my silver shoe buckles, and one-fifth part of my books, in full for his part and portion of my estate

Item. I give and bequeath unto my beloved son Daniel, the sum of seven pounds, to be paid by my executor in one year after my decease ; my bed and bedding which I have at my son Timothy Guild's, my silver spoon, one-fifth part of my books, and my cupboard, in full for his share and portion of my estate.

Item. I give and bequeath unto my beloved daughter Abigail Hawes, the sum of seven pounds, to be paid by my executor, in one year after my decease; one-third part of my wearing apparel, one-fifth part of my books, and one-quarter part of my other estate not particularly given away.

Item. I give and bequeath unto my beloved daughter Phebe Messenger, four-fifths part of about forty acres of undivided land lying on the westerly side of Birch Meadows Brook, which was given to me in the last will of my father, Theodore Man, deceased; one-third part of my wearing apparel, one-fifth part of my books, and seven pounds in money, to be paid to her by my executor in one year after my decease, and one-quarter part of my other estate not particularly given away.

Item. I give and bequeath unto my beloved daughter Mary Grant, the sum of seven pounds in money, to be paid to her by my executor in one year after my decease; one-third part of my wearing apparel, one-fifth part of my books, and one-quarter part of other estate not particularly given away.

Item. I give and bequeath unto my beloved son Timothy Guild, my right in Wrentham Library, and one-quarter part of my other estate not particularly given away.

Furthermore, I constitute, appoint and ordain Timothy Guild, above written, the sole executor of this my last will and testament; and I do hereby revoke and disannul all and every other and former wills, testaments, legacies, bequests, and executors by me in any wise before this time named, ratifying and confirming this, and no other, will and testament.

232. Otis[5] removed his family to Sharon, Connecticut, where he resided six years. Having a desire to see and know more about the western wilderness, as it was then (in 1798) called, he volunteered to drive an ox team for a neighbor, who was removing his family to the northern part of Ohio, a distance of nearly seven hundred miles, being a journey of thirty days. Being well pleased with that country, he purchased a farm in a township where there were but two families. The following spring, he removed his family to that place, with a team of four oxen and a horse, carrying all his furniture and provisions, with a cow tied behind the wagon. The family were thirty days on the road, sleeping in the wagon, and cooking their provisions by the way He arrived in Mesopotamia, Trumbull County, Ohio, in March, 1800, having, for a considerable portion of the way, to cut a road through the woods. Arriving at his "lot," he put up a tent of blankets for use until he could build a log house. By constant and hard labor he cleared his lot, and made an excellent farm, where he spent the remainder of his days. 256. ALBERT,[6] when but a year old, was taken with his parents in their emigration from Sharon, Connecticut, to Trumbull County, Ohio; whence, at about the age of twenty-two, he returned to New England. The following lively narrative is given of his return: "Having frequently heard his father and mother speak of Massachusetts, and their relations there, he made up his mind, when at the age of ten years, that if he lived to be twenty-one years old, he would start for that paradise;—and never altering his mind, at the age of about twenty-two, he said to his father and mother, 'I am going to take a journey.' 'Where are you going?' 'I am going to Massachusetts, if my legs will carry me there.' 'But how do you expect to go to Massachusetts without money?' (knowing he had but twenty-five cents in the world.) He said: 'I have two dollars and twenty-five cents due me in the town adjoining; I will start, —will on the way collect that, which will make two dollars fifty.' 'That won't do much toward carrying you to Massachusetts.' 'I will go as long as it lasts, then I will go to work and earn more.' His brothers laughed at him, and said: 'Let him go, he won't go far.' 'Well,' said his mother, 'if you are determined, I will cook up some victuals to put in your knapsack, which will help you along some.' On the 6th of November, 1820, a little before sunset, (having on his working clothes, and his knapsack well filled with cold victuals,) he started for the adjoining town, a distance of about six miles, and half of the way through a dense forest, with nothing but a cow-path to follow. Here he passed the night, and, collecting his two dollars and twenty-five cents, early in the morning resumed his lonely and wearisome journey, travelling, as he had said he would, until his money was gone; then went to work and earned enough to carry him through to Wrentham, Massachusetts, where he had relatives, arriving there in December, and having one and a half dollars left in his pocket. He soon located himself in Boston, on Hanover street, where he has been in business more than forty-five years, having now occupied the same office for the last forty years. He has, by industry, skill and prudence in the dental profession, acquired the means of a comfortable living. Thus he has convinced himself that a young man 'Can if he Will.'"
